The 3-in-1 document solution is among the company's best-selling products. It allows you to quickly convert any document to Word, Excel or PowerPoint, even if it contains tables, pictures, charts, and other media. The software has a variety of tools that help you determine and edit text formatting, create charts, run conditional formatting, add tables, merge, and apply standard styles to the documents, even if they are image-based. Plus, it has the quality and efficiency to make any tricky conversion fairly painless. The free program can convert practically any file without having to download extra apps or libraries from the internet. In addition, there's no need to install other software due to system compatibility issues.

Automated conversion The program has a built-in tool that converts the files you select. Plus, it allows you to convert more than one file at once, even if some of them contain macros. Plus, you can also batch process your files. That means you can add multiple documents to the conversion queue and have them converted at the same time. Also, there's no need to determine the conversion settings. With the built-in wizard, you can proceed to the next step automatically. The menu of the conversion process is easy to navigate. Plus, you can control which files are converted, the length of the conversion, output file format, and so on.
